Chapter 1. Beginning

A former Russian agent was killed in the apartment block at night. He worked in the FSB, his name was Oleg Lushkin. There was a full house in the apartment and all the things that belonged to Oleg were in place; in the apartment there was a cat that belonged to the victim. This cat was sent to the parents. Detective Alexander and Doctor Georgy took up the investigation. Alexander began to look for evidence in the apartment and Georgy went to the crime scene to look at the victim's body. Looking at the corpse, the doctor considered that he had been shot six times, death came quickly. Meanwhile, the detective did not find any evidence in the apartment because the killer worked with gloves and did not leave prints, and in the corridor he noticed a paper trash and next to it were three 7mm bullets. The package was written in English and pasted over with foreign stamps, which meant that the murderer was a foreigner. The envelope was so that no one could see from what weapon he was shooting; suddenly someone would peep through the peephole in the door. When Alexander and Georgy met, they went to interrogate friends, colleagues, Oleg's parents. From the database, they learned that Oleg had no friends and could not find a common language with his colleague. Then they went to their parents to ask a couple of questions.

Chapter 2. Interrogation

The detective and the doctor came to the victim's parents and started asking them questions: their mother was Elena Vladimirovna. Your son had a girlfriend, had enemies, problems. His mother did not know about his enemies, his problems, because he did not tell anything during his lifetime, but she knew that he had a girlfriend, they communicated well, spent a lot of time, loved each other, worked at the same job, but after a year they broke up ... For some reason, I don't know, I didn't want to upset him. Elena Vladimirovna did not know where his ex-girlfriend lived, but the detectives asked to take his phone suddenly there would be a phone number or address of residence. She gave them permission but then said to return them later. The detectives called that girl and she told them her address at home. Her name was Anna. She began to give answers that bothered her. They worked together, they did not hide anything from each other, but Oleg had a high position and he did not tell anyone, even to his relatives, she said. They met in St. Petersburg. He loved his cat very much. And did he have things that he valued and did not show anyone? - said the detective. Of all the valuable things, he loved his cat. Why did you break up, said George? He began to spend a little time with me completely forgot me he had only two things this work and this cat. Thank you for helping us, if we need you we will call you.

Chapter 3. An unexpected twist

At three o'clock in the morning the phone rang; it had an unidentified number. An unknown voice told them to come to the address otherwise he would kill Elena Vladimirovna. They entered the apartment and saw Elena Vladimirovna tied up and her mouth was sealed with tape. And suddenly a man comes out of another room with a pistol in his hands. He aimed one pistol at George and Alexander, and with one hand he took off the mask, it turned out to be Anna herself. Everyone was completely at a loss. how could she betray her country. And then she said that she met with Oleg to obtain blueprints for a new military weapon, and after a year of relationship, they broke up and killed Oleg herself.

Chapter 4. The Secret Revealed

Anna told them about her plan of action. It turned out that Oleg loved his cat for a reason; this cat has a chip for all the information and drawings. So get out of the way. Anna quickly jumped out of the window and a car was already waiting for her that would take her to the airport. Aleksander drove Elena Vladimirovna, and Georgy called for reinforcements so that Anna was caught and she did not deliver the secret blueprints. Because of this, police and military vehicles rushed after her and then helicopters blocked the roads, but it was all in vain they did not have time for her and Anna managed to jump on the plane. Our main characters thought everything, the Americans had the end of the weapon, but they reported on the radio that

Chapter 5. Final

On the radio, they announced that Anna was now on the plane in which Russian agents of the Ministry of Internal Affairs were sitting, she was immediately arrested on the plane. The plane returned to Russia and Anna was already awaited by the police and the National Guard with a court. The cat was returned to the hostess without a chip inside. Anna went to jail for 15 years for treason and murder. Chip is guarded by many employees, and detective Alexander and Dr. Georgy solved their case and they were awarded a medal for this and paid each of them $ 5,000.
